

STATE RECOGNITION

Corl Street's SWPBIS Tier 1 program has been recognized by the state of Pennsylvania for high fidelity implementation of positive behavior and intervention support. Our SWPBIS team meets monthly to review behavioral data and make decisions accordingly, as well as to share responsibilities to keep the program running smoothly. Be sure to read interesting SWPBIS updates in Dr. Mark's communication home. Lastly, a big thank you for celebrating your child's earned PAWS tickets and for encouraging PAWSitive behavior in your home!

HOW IS SWPBIS IMPLEMENTED AT CORN STREET?

At the beginning of the year, students participate in a fun school-wide gathering, as well as learning stations, in which behavior expectations are modeled and practiced for all school areas. Throughout the school year, students are recognized with praise, PAWS tickets, and rewards (individual, class, and school-wide) for demonstrating PAWSitive behavior. After the winter break from school, or as behavior needs arise, students may participate in refresher lessons, gatherings, or restorative intervention. Student input from all grades is an integral part of the process, and the fifth graders assume a key role as PAWS ambassadors.

WHAT IS SCHOOL-WIDE POSITIVE BEHAVIOR INTERVENTIONS AND SUPPORT (SWPBIS)?

SWPBIS is an initiative for improving student behavior by teaching students appropriate behaviors in various locations or situations and using positively stated expectations and common language in all school environments. Research suggests that SWPBIS improves the school community and climate, decreases inappropriate behaviors, and increases academic achievement.
