

FRESHMAN YEAR (9th grade)

- Meet your School Counselor (stop in the counseling office and schedule an appointment or email your counselor). Join a club or activity to meet people with similar interests.
- Be aware that you are now building your high school transcript. This is the official document that will be used by colleges and universities and to evaluate you for admission.
- Select courses that will challenge you but be sure to not overload yourself.
- If earning a C or less in a class, you should consult with your teacher on ways to improve your grade. You may also want to consider a level change if the course seems to difficult.
- Pick electives to discover strengths, weaknesses, interests or dislikes – all of which may help you to hone in on future career choices.